B · Objectives of the Seminar

- To examine how emerging technology is reshaping pedagogy, assessment, and classroom practice in teacher education.
- To explore how teacher-training curricula must evolve to respond to increasingly diverse learner needs and classrooms.
- To identify how institutional practice can close the gap between theoretical training and classroom-ready teaching.
- To align teacher preparation with the National Education Policy (NEP) 2020 and the national vision of Vikshit Bharat@2047.
- To create a platform for international academic exchange on teacher education among India, Sri Lanka, and Nepal.

C · Concept Note / Rationale (Summary)

Teacher education today stands at a defining crossroads, shaped by rapid technological change, increasingly diverse learner needs, and the national aspiration of building a Viksit Bharat by 2047. This International Seminar — "Reimagining Teacher Training: Preparing Educators for 21st-Century Classrooms and Vikshit Bharat@2047" — brought together policy thinkers, teacher-educators, and practitioners from India, Sri Lanka, and Nepal to examine this challenge from multiple angles: how technology is reshaping pedagogy and assessment, how teacher-training curricula must respond to increasingly diverse classrooms, and how institutional practice can close the gap between theoretical training and classroom-ready teaching.
